

The Valletta Waterfront's new site goes live

February 18, 2009

VISET Malta plc's Valletta Waterfront is loved by passengers, tourists and locals alike and offers state of the art sea passenger terminal facilities and is an ideal shopping, dining and entertainment location, in one of the most unique spots in the Mediterranean. The historical development, which dates back more than 250 years, is set overlooking the majestic Grand Harbour and the picturesque Three Cities.

What was once a derelict piece of land has been well and truly transformed into an area oozing appeal. With the help of web-development company, ICON, VISET Malta plc now has a website to reflect their forward-looking approach.

ICON is one of Malta's leading web development companies known for their world-class sites that are both design-focused and feature-rich. This recently launched site is expansive and covers all facets of VISET's varying focuses. It features an easy-to-use interface which walks visitors through the corporate section of the site offering detailed information about the company and the terminal facilities.

It also boasts sections on the commercial parts of the Valletta Waterfront including a comprehensive list of restaurants, bars, clubs and offices. An exciting addition is the EarthCam which links directly to live images of the Grand Harbour 24 hours a day.

ICON company director Gege Gatt said: "VISET approached us with their creative ideas for their new site and we were happy to assist them every step of the way".

Anna Maria Sciberras, Business Development Executive at the Valletta Waterfront commented, "Now launched, the site provides valuable information, to ensure that all visitors and people in the trade are updated and well-informed. Through the tailor-made tools provided by ICON, our personnel can easily update the information on the site as regularly as needed. Its technology benefits both the company and our esteemed clients."

The site is now up and running at: www.vallettawaterfront.com.
