

Cams Stream Live From Ocean Drive July 29, 2010

Watching the live streaming web cams on South Beach can be hours of fun and is kind of like watching a reality television show with a ton of characters and no plot. The image above was captured through our new link to EarthCam.

You can check out live streaming video from the hottest spots on South Beach and Lincoln Road just by clicking on our "Miami Cams" button on the left. If you are using a fast speed internet connection like o2 broadband you will be able to do so without any buffering occurring. This particular image was taken at 3:24 pm on Saturday, May 24th.

The camera points south from the News Café towards Miami's famed Wet Willie's. As you can see, the foul weather has not deterred vacationers from visiting the Ocean Drive hot spot. Here is the coolest part; you can have streaming images from any of the cams sent straight to your cell phone at <http://mobile.earthcam.com>. You can even create a page and turn your phone into a streaming web cam.
