

Happy New Year! Catch up on fireworks displays from around the globe

January 2, 2009

Happy New Year! I hope you brought it in with booze, smeared lipstick and unaccountable sticky things stuck to your shoes. If you were ensconced within some sweaty overpriced hall when the bells tolled you'll have missed the New Years fireworks, but why should you forgo that (over rated) pleasure because you were scared of the cold?

Earthcam, courtesy of Panasonic, has compiled webcasts from around the world to show you the evening's fireworks, and they include everything from the UK all the way to Memphis and Waikiki. Enjoy, and be glad you didn't have to be outside in the arctic temperatures to see them.