

User broadcast the U.S. street scene: in front of the camera

September 25, 2009

A reporter found that this is a very common figure, the picture is not very clear, similar to the surveillance video on the screenshot, but why have the following 20-odd pages of thread then? Journalists try to refresh and people who are at the bottom of the screen, went to the front.

Look at the user's thread, the screen has the same scene, in addition to the difference between day and night, and the emergence of different people, and different cars. User in accordance with a match required by drying out their own "writing": "Beijing time 6:55, and the United States on the streets is empty. Just made girls have left the line of sight, she is wandering hippies it was a lonely The Ye Guiren, we do not know. There's always yellow cabs parked on the roadside waiting for a weary night of walkers on the train. Garbage bags was still there, much less on the vehicle crossing. Booth before the empty ground sporadic white trash, set off may be more dazzling lights and more loneliness."

■ Secondary principle: to narrow the distance between the camera

The competition was launched Louzhu also carried out some simple explanation: "This map is the U.S. street to take pictures of the latest pictures uploaded to the same address the original cover image has been posted every few seconds there will be an address within the meaning of Zhang new image." reporter found by searching for a more detailed explanation: This technique is called network cameras (in English referred to as web-cam), a few years ago, has emerged. There is also a web site called Earthcam through which you can see the camera around the world, photographed by the real-time scene. To use of network camera, remote viewers do not require any specialized software, using only the browser can be real-time monitoring of their images. Of course, most of them are installed in the building to the top, parks and other public places and non-encrypted network camera. 1 User found this map of the location of a specific film, New York, the 46th Street and Broadway Street intersection, to understand the reason of which, the name "Lolita" the User or even joked, "If you have relatives in the U.S. or a friend, let him stand in this position, see if you can see him? A male user said:" want to see a beautiful day and they go to sleep in the evening, and beautiful women on many is estimated that these foreigners who can not think that they are by us onlookers bar, ha ha. "

■ latest findings: User in front of the camera

View a 20-page thread, this reporter found that most people are on the screen do not know the camera's existence. Netizens give full play to their imagination, the light of writing is not enough, some of them took shots at passers-by with the strokes tick the relationship between the characters, and even added dialogue, posted a Photos tell a complete story. "Tonight was the first of their actions. 1, Red Hat Huaizhao rough around the uneasy feeling watching. 2, Red Hat continues to look around. 3, Red Hat watched with keen eyes shaved head, silently praying yellow clothes men can to convince to buy their goods shaved head. 4, yellow clothes men and to persuade the pedestrian. (light back woman appeared in the booth side of the small Colombian nap) 5, yellow clothes men bargain with the customers. Red Hat continue to observe. (Warcraft men appear to nap's brother wake up) 6, yellow clothes men and men with a knowing smile Red Hat, and finally made into a business. "

Which a group of shots is really astonishing, one wearing a dark red T-shirt, white jeans and carrying a big bag of ethnic Chinese boy is obviously aware of the existence of the camera, he was facing the camera, with both hands holding the "Top China" plate, the streets of foreigners who have become his background, because it is consistent shots, and his bow for the middle plate of the screen. Addition to the "top" "China", he also changed the words of the two other cards, cards are written in Chinese characters. This group of photos caused netizens questioned, "I do not know if this is not his own to go, but apparently the picture of this man is definitely there have been in this forum!" Have User praised the man's approach: "Using this platform to promote their own country."