

Abbey Road Live Webcam Captures Beatles Fans and Tourists in the Act of Crossing August 2, 2010

At any given moment in London, it's likely there's a Beatles fan mimicking the iconic mid-stride pose in the crosswalk outside Abbey Road Studios, brimming with joy and maybe interfering with traffic.

Watch the Abbey Road live webcam for a little while and you're bound to see it happen: The camera-clutching tourist backing up slowly to get a good shot of the street, the red double-decker bus breaks squealing behind him. It's a beautiful thing.

But if you don't have time to wait around for tourist magic to happen, you can check out this time-lapsed music video showing a day in the life of Abbey Road.

Also be sure to look at the Abbey Road Studios wall of fame, where users submit the best webcam screen shots. Ahead, some of our favorite Beatles imitators, including a dozen dancers wearing giant hats!
