LEXINGTON, Ky. (WTVQ) – EarthCam, a company providing webcam content, technology, and services, has released a time-lapse video fitting 31 months of construction on UK's new Gatton College of Business & Economics into less than a minute.

The new Gatton College of Business and Economics is the first academic building on UK's campus to be financed entirely through philanthropy. The 210,000-square-foot building incorporates the remodeled 1963 original Gatton building and its 1992 addition. The new building has technology-enabled classrooms, a real-time finance learning center and collaborative study spaces.

The footage was released as a graduation present to students from the college preparing to receive their diplomas tomorrow.
