We love the holidays, and Thanksgiving is the official kickoff to the Christmas season, which is awesome. And what would Thanksgiving Day be like without one of the most famous parades in the world, the annual Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade in New York City!

EarthCam has set up their live webcam at Columbus Circle in New York, so you can join over 55 million others around the world who will enjoy this beloved annual event, celebrating it's 91st year.

There will be over 8,000 participants, lots of marching bands, including the Mighty Lions of Lafayette High School, the world famous balloons, and tons of celebrities. You can look for country stars Kane Brown, Carly Pearce, Sugarland, and Martina McBride riding on floats, and performing.

If you are so inclined, you can also view the parade on NBC starting at 9:00 ET. Happy Thanksgiving, y'all!
