

The Boston Fashionista

Birds of a Feather

4.29.2015

I've been wearing this top a lot the past few months, but somehow it hasn't yet made it onto the blog. It's high time to share it with you, because this easy-to-wear blouse has taken me from the office (with pants and a blazer), to the weekend (with jeans), to the airport (with leggings and a sweater). I also love the unique print - it's flying pheasants!

Speaking of birds, my new favorite website is the EarthCam webcam in Oxford, MA with a bird's-eye view of an osprey nest. Check it out!

In other news, you know I don't often do giveaways, but I have two very cool ones lined up for the next two weeks here on TBF, so stay tuned (I'll be dropping hints over on Snapchat: Bos_Fashionista)! Happy hump day!

TOP: Joules Womens Half Buttoned Blouse, Creme Pheasant (on sale! also available in navy) PANTS: Ann Taylor TRENCH: Theory BAG: J. Crew Uptown Tote (now 30% off with code SALETHERAPY) SUNGLASSES: House of Harlow 1960

