

Pictured: An hour-by-hour look at Temple Bar filling with green as people hit the town for St Patrick's Day

A stream by the website Earth Cam has been watching over Temple Bar all afternoon, as it filled with green hats, flags and even a Garda van

By Stephen McDermott

18:22, 17 MAR 2018 Updated 21:25, 17 MAR 2018

The parades are finished and most of the day has already passed, but Dublin is still thriving as night descends this St Patrick's Day.

There's plenty to shout about following Ireland's Grand Slam victory over England in the rugby, as well as the continuing celebration of all things Irish for the day that's in it.

A stream by the website Earth Cam has been watching over Temple Bar all afternoon, as it filled with green hats, flags, and even a Garda van today.

Here it is at various points this afternoon: 9AM - 9PM

As town really begins to pick up this evening, you can watch the live stream and spy on all the goings on in Temple Bar here.