

Take 60 seconds to watch Fiserv Forum's construction come to life, inside and out, in time-lapse video
By JR Radcliffe • October 19, 2018

Fans will get their first look at Fiserv Forum tonight in downtown Milwaukee for a regular-season basketball game when the Milwaukee Bucks hold their home opener.

Take a look at the construction of the stadium, from flat plot of land to completion, with this time-lapse footage supplied by EarthCam.

You can find out more info at Earthcam.net. The 714,000-square-foot venue anchors a developing 27-acre district in downtown Milwaukee and has been open for several recent concerts and other events, including preseason basketball games.