

Hey Ed, Are you smarter than the average bear?

By Ed McIntosh

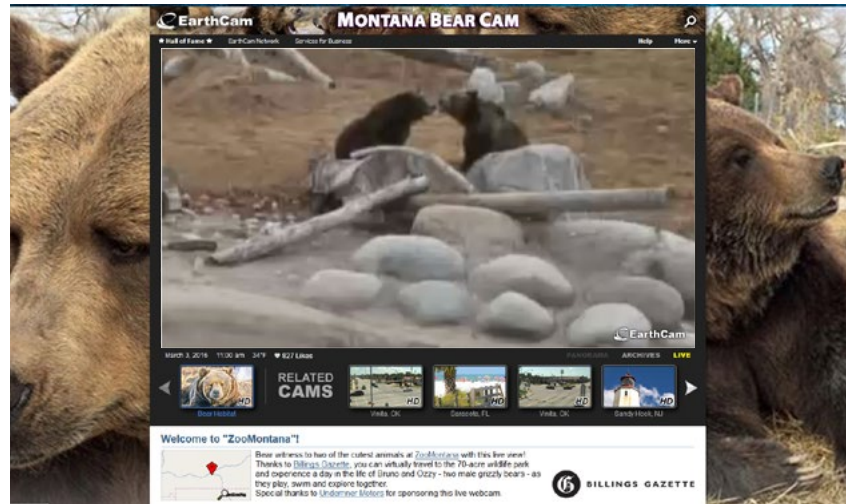

Posted: Feb 16, 2016 1:30 PM EST

Updated: Feb 16, 2016 1:50 PM EST

From time to time, I knock around the internet, trying to find new webcam links that can give both you and me a better idea of what is happening with Montana and Northern Wyoming weather. Today, I found a familiar webcam, but in a new place.

One of the premier sites for webcams is earthcam.com. From Times Square, to the far reaches of the world, Earthcam offers the best and most interesting images. If it is a well known location, chances are Earthcam can give you a great up to the minute image or streaming video.

Since there are so many cool cameras to choose from, Earthcam editors will periodically put together a list of their personal favorites. On the current list of Earthcam Top Ten Cams... sandwiched somewhere between Rome's Novana Square and an underwater camera in the Mediterranean... is the live camera at ZooMontana.

Bruno and Ozzy, the grizzly bears at ZooMontana, have been internet stars for a little while now. And granted, there are times when there is little more to see than an empty habitat. But, patience has its rewards.

When the weather is a little humdrum, join me in checking out the international internet sensations who live just across town.

<http://www.earthcam.com/usa/montana/billings/>