

Watch Ultra Music Festival 2018 Via Earthcam

See Ultra's final preparations and then the festival all weekend from high up.

Want to see what Ultra Music Festival looks like from above? Well Earthcam has you covered with their camera overlooking Bayfront Park. You won't get the best sound, but match that with a live stream and you will have a couple of different angles.

If you check it out today, you will see the calm before the storm with preparations still under way on the grounds and stages. You will be able to see the set up from a good vantage point way up the air, maybe even higher than those below you during the fest.
