

Monitor Hurricane Lane with EarthCam's live webcams in Hawaii

By Kendra Wisner • August 22, 2018

HAWAII - Hawaii residents and visitors are bracing for Hurricane Lane as the now Category 4 storm continues on its path toward the Pacific state. There is a possibility of Lane making a direct hit on one or more of the islands later this week and into this weekend. Broadcast live updates as the storm continues via EarthCam's webcams in Waikoloa and Kauai.

Hurricanes are rare in Hawaii, but Lane is expected to bring heavy rain and flooding, dangerous surf and strong winds as it continues to move towards the islands. Watch the weather while staying safe indoors with EarthCam's live webcams in the affected areas.

Keep an eye on Hurricane Lane with EarthCam's live webcams in Hawaii. Stay safe, everyone!

Waikoloa: <https://www.earthcam.com/usa/hawaii/bigisland/waikoloa/>

Kauai: <https://www.earthcam.com/usa/hawaii/kauai/>

Courtesy of EarthCam: www.earthcam.com