Couldn't make it to NOLA for Mardi Gras this year? Take a digital stroll down Bourbon Street instead.

Yes, you can enjoy the bawdy festivities vicariously through the EarthCam webcam in the French Quarter. When we checked, crowds were massing on Bourbon Street and its balconies for the pre-Lenten bacchanalia.

It looks to be a chilly night in New Orleans, with celebrants wearing just as many hoodies as beads. That's not keeping them from walking around with icy cold Hurricane-size cocktails.

Give us a go cup and let the good times roll!
