EarthCam recently launched Control Center 8 to serve the evolving demands of the building industry, meeting expectations both today and in the future. This Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) suite's features include a smart, responsive HTML5 design, optimized to be viewed cross-platform. Customers can view, control, and market their projects with more tools than ever before. They can also discover visibility across the entire project, explore new ways to create and share jobsite photos, and connect with project teams on-site or in the office. The suite delivers progressive live streaming video, megapixel time-lapse archives, and cinematic panoramas. The new launch also includes mobile apps for both iOS and Android devices. Designed exclusively for EarthCam.net clients.
